Subject to applicable law and as explained in this section, individuals to whom the GDPR, DPA 18 or the UK GDPR applies have certain rights with respect to their Personal Information.

- Right of access, rectification and erasure - you have the right to request access to and obtain a copy of any of your Personal Information that we may hold, to request correction of any inaccurate data relating to you and to request the deletion of your Personal Information under certain circumstances.
- Right to withdraw consent - where applicable, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. For example, if you wish to opt-out of receiving electronic marketing communications, use the 'unsubscribe' link provided in our emails or otherwise contact us directly and we will stop sending you such communications.
- Data portability - where we are relying (as the justification for processing) upon your consent, or the fact that the processing is necessary to perform a contract to which you are party or to take steps at your request prior to entering a contract, and the Personal Information is processed by automatic means, you have the right to receive all such Personal Information which you have provided us in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format, and also to require us to transmit it to another controller where this is technically feasible.
- Right to restriction of processing - you have the right to restrict our processing of your Personal Information (that is, allow only its storage) where:
 - You contest the accuracy of the Personal Information, until we have taken sufficient steps to correct or verify its accuracy;
 - where the processing is unlawful but you do not want us to erase the Personal Information;
 - where we no longer need your Personal Information for the purposes of the processing, but you require such Personal Information for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or
 - where you have objected to processing justified on legitimate interest grounds (see below), pending verification as to whether we have compelling legitimate grounds to continue processing.

Where your Personal Information is subject to restriction we will only process it with your consent or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

- You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority of your habitual residence, place of work or place of alleged infringement in the EU or the UK, if you consider that the processing of your Personal Information infringes applicable law.

- Right to object to processing (including profiling) based on legitimate interest grounds - where we are relying upon legitimate interests to process Personal Information, you have the right to object to that processing. If you object, we must stop that processing unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing that override your interests, rights and freedoms, or we need to process the Personal Information for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims. Where we rely upon legitimate interest as a basis for processing we believe that we can demonstrate such compelling legitimate grounds, but we will consider each case on an individual basis.
- Right to object to direct marketing (including profiling) - you have the right to object to our use of your Personal Information (including profiling) for direct marketing purposes, such as when we use your Personal Information to invite you to our events.

Subject to applicable law, individuals to whom the CCPA applies (for example, residents in California) have certain rights with respect to their Personal Information.

- Right of access and erasure - you have the right to request access to and obtain a copy of any of your Personal Information that we may hold in a portable format and to request the deletion of your Personal Information under certain circumstances.
- Right to opt out – you have the right to direct us not to sell your Personal Information to a third party.

Individuals who submit requests for access or erasure of Personal Information will be required to verify their identity, and we will not disclose or delete any Personal Information until your identity is verified. You may designate an authorized agent to submit a request on your behalf by providing that agent with your written permission. If an agent makes a request on your behalf, they will be required to verify the request by submitting your written authorization, and we may still ask that you verify your identity with us before we can honour the request.

Exceptions may be made to requests for erasure under California law in cases where we have a business need to retain the Personal Information, including to complete the transaction for which the Personal Information was collected, to protect against cybersecurity incidents, to comply with legal obligations, and for other internal uses that are lawful and compatible with the context for which the Personal Information was provided.

We will not discriminate against you for exercising any of the rights set out above or any rights you have under applicable laws.
